

UNITED STATES POSTAL INSPECTION SERVICE

REWARD

Up to $50,000

ROBBERY OF U.S. POSTAL SERVICE LETTER CARRIER

The U.S. Postal Inspection Service is offering a reward of up to $50,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the suspect(s) who robbed a U.S. Postal Service letter carrier on Thursday, June 4, 2020, at approximately 9:30 p.m., on the 3500 block of Hayes Street NE, Washington, DC 20019.

Three suspects involved in the robbery were identified with the following descriptions:

Suspect #1 – Black male, dark complexion, possibly late teens or early 20s, 5’2” – 5’3”, thin build, possibly weighing 140 – 150 pounds, black hair faded on sides of head with more natural looking hair on top. Reflective jacket, black “skinny” jeans, black tennis shoes, with a surgical face mask.

Suspect #2 – Black male, dark complexion, possibly late teens or early 20s, 5’3”, thin build, possibly weighing 140 – 150 pounds. Black hoodie, black sweat pants, black Nike boots, with a surgical face mask.

Suspect #3 – Black male, older than Suspects 1 and 2. Bright-colored sweatshirt (i.e. possibly yellow or orange) with front pocket section, dark colored shorts.

TAKE NO ACTION TO APPREHEND THESE INDIVIDUALS YOURSELF

If you have any information about this incident, please contact the:
U.S. Postal Inspection Service at 1-877-876-2455 (say “Law Enforcement”)

All information will be kept strictly confidential.